

Continuing Education

The Department of Post-Graduate and Continuing Education

Education is a vital element to the mission of McLean Hospital and for nearly 200 years, it has been providing the finest professional education for a wide range of mental health and allied health professionals, including psychiatrists, psychologists, nurses, social workers, national certified counselors, nursing-home administrators and educators. Its topnotch and fully accredited programming attracts a broad base of health providers for further training in a variety of specialties.

The Department of Post-Graduate and Continuing Education at McLean offers a variety of academic programs, including lectures, symposia, multiday conferences and workshops. Each program advocates and supports the continuing professional development of mental health professionals with a focus on improving patient care. McLean's annual psychiatry review course draws a growing number of psychiatrists from around the world, updating them in numerous aspects of the practice.

As a world-class institution with an exceptional reputation for academic excellence and as the largest psychiatric teaching affiliate of Harvard Medical School, McLean Hospital and its continuing education programs attract a broad range of psychiatric professionals, from full-time practitioners to academic clinicians with special interests in research and teaching, to other allied health professionals locally, nationally and internationally.

Grand Rounds

Throughout the academic year, September through June, McLean offers weekly lectures, given by world-renowned speakers, on a variety of topics, such as psychopharmacology, psychosocial treatments and clinical case conferences.
